ABOUT ECSO

Eighty Years of Music in Eastern Connecticut

Now in its 80th season, the Eastern Connecticut Symphony Orchestra has been the region's premier orchestra since 1946, bringing world-class symphonic music to southeastern Connecticut. Under the baton of Music Director and Conductor Toshiyuki Shimada, ECSO presents a full season of subscription concerts at the historic Garde Arts Center in New London, drawing engaged audiences from across the region.

Advertising in our program book puts your business in front of loyal subscribers and concertgoers who turn out for every performance, from holiday favorites to symphonic masterworks. It is also a meaningful way to invest directly in ECSO's mission: keeping live orchestral music thriving in eastern Connecticut for generations to come.
